

Down to Earth is a podcast about hope. As climate change collides with our industrial food system, we focus not on doom but instead on people who are developing practical, innovative solutions. We talk with farmers, ranchers, scientists, land managers, writers, and many others on a mission to create a world in which the food we eat is healthy—for us, for the land and water from which it springs, for the lives and livelihoods of the producers, and for the planet. The Quivira Coalition has co-produced this podcast with Mary Charlotte Domandi and Radio Cafe.

The Down to Earth Podcast is a semi-monthly production that reaches about 1500-2500 listeners an episode, and is quickly growing. To date we have over 200,000 unique downloads of episodes. We have an audience that is similar to those that we interview - ranchers, farmers, scientists, people who manage land in many sizes and forms, rural and urban communities. We host an annual conference that has been drawing a large audience for more than 20 years. Our podcast features the conference speakers in the lead up to the conference and is a great time to reach a targeted group of people. Sponsorship opportunities continue for the conference itself as well as in-person exhibition tables. A six-episode sponsorship package coupled with an exhibition table at the conference is a great way to get the word out about your work.

Down to Earth Publishes On

ITUNES • STICHER • I HEART RADIO • GOOGLE PLAY • SPOTIFY • RADIOPUBLIC • RSS

Highlighted Episodes

- Reclaiming the Commons: A conversation with Dr. Vandana Shiva
Dr. Vandana Shiva is an environmental leader, scientist, and activist. Author of over 20 books, she's founder and leader of Navdanya, a non-governmental organization and movement that promotes biodiversity, organic farming, the rights of farmers, and seed saving.
- Hopi Farming - A 2000 year experiment with Dr. Michael Kotutwa Johnson
Hopi farmers were practicing regenerative agriculture before it was named. Working with the soil, the weather, the water cycle, seeds, and cultural practices, they fed themselves in the dry land of northern Arizona for millennia. Now the industrial food system has challenged their way of living and farming. We talk to traditional Hopi farmer Dr. Michael Kotutwa Johnson; he's a research associate with the Native American Agriculture Fund and has a doctorate in natural resources management.

Single Episode Sponsorship Packages

Each episode of our podcast reaches approximately 1500-2000 listeners, and our audience is quickly growing. Sponsor an episode and have your business, project or organization promoted with a 70-word ad. You write it and our host will read it on the air. We suggest adding a link to a landing page in the ad for listeners to visit so that you can track the success of your ad.

Pre-Roll (Before the show) Sponsor $30

Mid-Roll (Mid-episode break) Sponsor $45

Post-Roll (At the end of the show) Sponsor $20

Multi-Episode Sponsorship Packages

Three Episodes $75 pre-roll $125 mid-roll $50 post-roll

Six Episodes $140 pre-roll $200 mid-roll $75 post-roll

5 min Sponsored Content Interview $1200

Record a 5 minute interview with our host of the Down to Earth Podcast. This interview will appear at the end of an episode. The interview will be presented and introduced as sponsored content (ie The following interview is brought to you by X...). This is a great way to talk about your product or business in a longer interview format.

Back Catalog Sponsorships $50

If there is a particular past episode that relates to your brand, we will permanently record and promote your brand with a live read 140 word pre-roll audio ad on any back catalog episode. Simply tell us which episode you would like to be placed on and we will stitch in the ad. Please note that your ad will be stitched in this episode spot forever.

Multi-Platform Packages With Social Media

We reach an audience of more than 10,000 people on our Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram pages. When the episode you are sponsoring goes live we will also promote your brand on these platforms.

Shared on FB, Twitter, Instagram

$25 an episode

Contact Kaleb Wentzel-Fisher with any questions!
downtoearth@quiviracoalition.org